An American writer says that many careful observers of financial offairs, national and international look with misgivings upon the monetary situation in England, and some of them are predicting that the present craze for speculative minvestments will end in a disastrous panic, in which not only Great Britain and her colonies, but the leading nations of Europe, and America will suffer severely.

H. M. S. Swift was despatched yesterday owing to lack of evidence to prove that the girls afternoon in search of the British steamship Felbridge, reported by the steamer Butephalus to be badly ashore on the Paracels. The Swift has received orders to stand by the vessel if necessary; so the date of her return with tidings of the ill-fated steamer is uncertain. We hear that the Felbridge was fully forty miles out of her course and probably drifted there by strong currents.

A FIERY Argyle and Sutherlander writes complaining that we suggested the exclusion of Singapore and intend coming on to Hongkong soldiers from the military band concerts in the and China. The combination is numerically Public Gardens. We certainly did not-no one | the strongest that has yet visited the Far East, has a better right there than the under-valued totalling sixty members, including an orchestra slight restriction-not anything prohibitive, but, for instance, a ten-cent charge, for the benefit of the Band, or the Alice Memorial Hospital, or, the Ladies' Benevolent Fund, would have a salutary effect.

ARRANGEMENTS have been made for the final match between the Garrison Shooting Club and the Artillery Volunteers. It is to be shot off on Saturday next, firing to commence on the Military Range, at 3 p.m. sharp. It will be remembered that the first match between those teams was fired on the 30th March, 1889, when the Club teams were victorious by 14 points. The second contest took place on the November last when the Volunteers came off victorious by 9 points. The conditions aredistances 200, 400, and 500 yards, ten aside, the best eight scores only to count.

THE Russian steamer Ariol, of the Russian Volunteer Fleet, arrived at Singapore on the soth ulto, from Odessa with 1,360 officers and troops on board, bound for Vladivostock. She is the latest addition to the Russian Volunteer Fleet, and is a vessel of 2,400 tons register, on her maiden voyage to Siberia. She is a beautifully modelled ship, and can steam eighteen knots per hour easily. She has all the latest modern improvements and has been especially built to carry a large number of troops. She carries a crew of 180 men and can, in the case of war, mount several guns. She was built in an English yard by order of the Directors of the Russian Volunteer Flect.

A SURVEYOR who visited Punjom in December says, in his notes published in the Singapore Free Press :- There has been a great deal of money spent and a great deal of work done in the way of sinking shafts and making cross drives; but I'm afraid with almost "o results. The deepest cross cut has not yet reached the main lode. I believe it is at about a depth of 115 feet, and if the stone is not getting richer there instead of poorer I have no doubt that that part of Punjom will be shut up and the machinery will have to be moved elsewhere. The mill is hard at work and some hundred of tons of quartz have been, and are being, put through at the rate of about to tons per de (12 stamps at work). This is the picked stuff of

The first parcels of new tea arrived much earlier than usual, and a few small shipments went forward by the Gaelic on the 15th ulto. The weather has, however, been against the tea growers of this country. The hot sun and the heavy rains of the early spring have, it is true, brought on an early crop, but it is coarser than usual, and has suffered both in leaf and in the Despite this, the demand seems as active as ever during the past week, and about 4,000 piculs have been settled, at prices ruling from $38 to $14, but there have been but few trans. actions at the extreme rates, as the supply offering has been rather limited.

OF the ships that eater the port of Shanghai says the N. C. Daily News, there are, of course, many which have experienced to the full thedangers of the deep; but few can have had a narrower escape than the Charles S Whitney. a fine full-rigged ship of 1,651 tons, belonging to Parraboro, Nova Scotia, and which left New York on November 20th for Shanghal, with a cargo of some 66,000 cases of kerosene oil. All went well until the long voyage was very nearly over, but then occurred an episode which those Mr. Sassoon's gr. Eureka, 11st, 11b.Mr. Dallas on board will probably remember to the end of Mr. J. D. Humphreys' bay Grantham, Tost. 121b. their lives. At a quarter past two o'clock on Wednesday morning (30th ult.), the ship was outside the North Saddles, coming up before the wind with just enough sail to keep way on. There was a fresh breeze at the time, a thunderstorm was commencing, rain was falling heavily, and in the darkness of the night it was impossible to see as much as the ship's length ahead. The captain was aft, examining the chart, and preparing to heave the ship to, not liking to proceed in the intense darkness. He had just previously taken soundings and found twenty nine fathoms. Suddealy the cry of "Breakers on the lee bow" was raised, and the captain, rushing to the starboard side, could see a line of foam abreast of the fore-rigging, and close to the ship. Above the foam could dimly be seen the outline of the Leuconna reef, rising about fifteen feet above the water. The helm was instantly put hard down, and the vessel sheered | Mr. Sassoon's sk. On deck the concussion was scarcely noticeable, Mr. Merevale's blk Black Leaf, 11st. 1lb but the captain's wife, below, heard a distinct grating noise as the ship's timbers came into contact with the reef. Hardly had the rock been cleared when the full force of the current Mr. Major's gr; Obstructionist, 11st, 11b.,,... began to be felt on the port bow, and by a flash of lightning the captain could see Mr. Choufleur's gr. Evidently the law respecting kidnapping and prostitution requires considerable amendment; as his Worship hinted when laying stress upon the point that the case was "enshrouded in very suspicious circumstances," but unfortunately came without the pale of the law.

THE well-known Stanley Opera Bouffe and Pantomime Company are now performing at "Tommy Atkins." But, we still think that a of fourteen. Their repertoirs comprises all the popular comic operas, burlesques, and pantomimes, which in India have met with the greatest success. No doubt this talented company will receive liberal support in Hongkong, although their visit will be a trifle late in the season. Full particulars of the opening night will be published in due course.

EUROPEAN constable who witnessed the execution of the six men at Kowlson City last week pave us a few more particulars to-day. He said that quite a number of Europeans were over there at the time, presumably gambling, and some of them ran away rather than see the sanguinary scene. It turned him sick, as it was. The victims were pirates and burglars, and had a long and bad record. They were brought ashore with their ankles fettered and their hands bound behind them, enclosed in long baskets, similar to those in which pigs are carried. The executioners, after making such a botch of the decapitation, at once mingled with the throng so asto avoid further publicity. Some of the lopped heads flew off to a distance of several feet, the tongue protruding and the eyes rolling. They were left on the spot, with the bodies, four being taken away afterwards by the relatives and the other two buried in the sand where they lay.

FIRST DAY,-MONDAY, APRIL 28TH, 1890. Although rain had threatened ominously over-night, the sport commenced in lovely summer weather, the heat during the afternoon, however, being somewhat oppressive. The course, if not " flying," was in capital order, and the racing, taken as a whole, was most satisfactory, the fields generally ruling large and the finishes being fairly exciting. The attendance of spectators was quite up to the Shanghai average. During the day the following programme was played by the Town Band :-	F

LONDON, April 3rd. A lunatic, hitherto regarded harmless, became seized with a paroxysm of frenzy to-day and ran amuck in the City Road, terrorizing all pedestrians in his path. He carried in his sight hand a huge knife which he used to keep at bay those who tried to capture him, and before he was secured he stabbed three persons, one of them, it is feared, fatally.

WINNIPEG, April 5th Lord Boyle, whose mysterious disappearance s reported by cubic figura London, was wel known in the Canadian Northwest. At the last elections he retired from the House and suddenly disappeared.

It was at first supposed that his Lordship had gone to a mining camp near by, but all inquiries among miners failed to give his friends any clew. As the young Lord was known to have a large sum of money on his person at the time of his disappearance, there are fears of foul play... An opinion prevails that Boyle has met a similar fate to thet of Benwell's.

A telegram from Maclead last night says that Lord Boyle went West from there to British Columbia. He suddenly disappeared and has never been heard of since. He is supposed to have gone to Alaska. Some of his friends still believe him alive.

Home Secretary Matthews is being vigorously scored by the press for not respiting Richard the elder boy, a lad of nineteen years who once saved his mother's life when his father savagely assaulted her. Indignation is also expressed because George, the youngest brother, has been sentenced to expiate his crime by hard labor, in prison for life, it being generally thought that imprisonment for a term of years would have been sufficient punishment.

Hurried petitions are being prepared are signed by the leading people, all over the country, and a cablegram, has been sent to Queer Victoria at Aix-les-Bains, begging at least a respite in the case of Richard.

Just besore her departure for Aix les Bains was rumored here that she would voluntarily surrender the position which she has held since June 20, 1837. The reasons alleged by those who circulated the rumor were manifold. has been known for a long time that Victoria's health is very precarious. She is a victim sciatica, and for months has not been abl to move about, except with the aid of a walking stick. In addition to this she has become very fleshy, and nothing that the court physicans can do can remedy this great difficulty. She has placed herself upon the plainest diet, and is obliged to undergo severe massage treatment daily to enable her to breathe easily. Her present visit to the baths of Aix les Bains is for the purpose of getting rid of some of her super-

She is well convinced of the fact that sh cannot live very much longer, and that it is no only impossible for her to show herself in public as the English populace would wish, but she is not able to attand, as she would like to, public business.

Another reason advanced for abdication by those who imagine that she would surrender her rights was the recent visit of the Prince of Wales to Germany and a little while before the visit of Emperor William to England.

In spite of the frivolities of his early life, Albert Edward has always been the favorite child of the Queen. When, some months ago, the youthful-Emperor of Germany came here and received the honors of the army and the salutes of his own and the British fleet as a monarch, it undoubtedly touched the sympathy of the mother in the Oueen to see her first son as yet only a Prince, and lower down in the social scale than the head of the Hohenzollerns.

Wales undoubtedly felt this difference keenly and the reports of his ill health were sent out Mr. Read o to excuse him from appearing any oftener than possible. Much the same thing happened during the recent visit to Berlin, and it was said by those who advanced the theory of abdication that Victoria, after a long life of power, would relinquish the reins of government to her son, and as King of England he would take a prece-

Duke of Mailborough here this week as the Prince passed through this city on his way from Berlin to Cannes. The quarrel resulted from an interview which was held in the Prince's drawing-room of the Hotel Bristol. The interview was solicited by the Duke of Marlborough and lasted longer than is usual in a visit of courtesy or in a friendly call. It was moreover held strictly tete-a tete on Wednesday. The Prince, after lunching with Baron Hirsch, was cros ing through Faubourg St. Honore on foot to Elysee, and was within ten yards of the principal entrance when the Duke of Marlborough passed. It was then seen, to the astonishment of everybody who knew how friendly the relations of the Prince and Duke used to be, that when Marlborough rais d bis hat to salute the Prince the latter turned away his head without giving the slightest sign recognition and walked on, cutting the Duke

The Emperor's solicitude regarding the army is further shown in the Imperial order published to-day, to the effect that, in view of its incompleteness, the reserve infantry military officers' system bitherto pursued, which provides that officers must come from the ranks of mobility, must be extended to include those of noble character, in order that the sons of honor able middle-class families may hold appointments

The same rules are also to apply to the civil service. The Emperor further disapproves of the holding of a commission being dependentupon the private income of the aspirants, and therefore decrees that their pay be increased.

At much length he enjoins Commanders to set the example of self-sacrifice to officers and check indulgences in unnecessary luxuries, the habit of making costly presents, and giving fréquent banquets.

In conclusion the Emperor desires that a list of aspirants be submitted to him, together with the names of officers who do not conform to the rule prescribing a simpler mode of life. The Reichsanzeiger publishes a series of articles which are supposed to be directly inspired by the Emperor on social politics and reforms. So far no definite projects are mentioned, but the tendency is toward legislation, for the regulation of the working day and the wage questions.
